At A Glance

The 2006 AS350B3 helicopter, with just 1,506 hours of total time, is a robust, lightweight utility workhorse thanks to its single hydraulic system, which reduces weight compared to dual-hydraulic models. This helicopter is unique for its high-value "squirrel cheeks," which enhance storage and utility. It also features a crash-worthy fuel tank, an air conditioner for added comfort, and a Geneva panel switch system known for its unique, fail-proof design. With exceptional lifting capacity, agility, and reliability, this low-time AS350B3 is well-equipped for demanding missions, making it a valuable asset for versatile utility operations.
